“Not everything that can be counted counts and not everything that counts can be counted.”

It is a common belief that subject knowledge will guarantee professional success in teaching. However, knowledge of subject, its concepts and theories and highly sophisticated professional skills, will be useless, if the faculty does not know how to deliver the content in a classroom by using innovative teaching practices as well as adopting new ways of engaging students in the classroom. The course aims to enhance each participant's classroom effectiveness and ability to use teaching approaches as each participant would be given an opportunity to show case repertoire of instructional methods and strategies by remaining critical and reflective about their teaching practice. Each Participant would get expert one-on-one feedback and coaching at the end of each teaching task.
